

Thinking about our stewardship often doesn't involve stories. When you hear the word 'stewardship', what do you think of?

Take a look at the Old Testament reading for this week (Deuteronomy 8:1-18). We know how this story ends up, so why do you think there is the warning here?

We all have blessings in our lives, to some degree or another. Which blessing in your life reminds you of God's work in your life?

Take a look at the Epistle lesson again (Titus 3:3-8). Have you ever thought of good works as being profitable? In what ways do you think they are? In what ways aren't they?

What are some things you do to remember what God has done for you?

Taking time to remember what has been done earlier in our lives is an important step in thinking about where we are at this moment. Take some time and use the back of this sheet to jot down where it is you came from, and remember those moments where God's gifts were evident in your life, and maybe even how they were used "profitably".
